

Joanna Rotkin of Joanna and the Agitators:

The Sky Inside

APRIL 28 -29 & MAY 6

This film is about the improvisational dance class that Joanna has been teaching since 2003. "Sometimes I dance with the class, and sometimes I watch", she says. "What I see when I watch is so beautiful to me — the honesty that these bodies bring to the dance floor each week —it astounds me, makes me weep, and leaves me breathless, over and over again. I want to share this with you, the beauty these dancers bring, so I made a film. It's called The Sky Inside because that's how it feels to me: That the sky is inside, all of us."

DAIRY ARTS CENTER

DAIRY ARTS CENTER MAY 2019 PERFORMANCE CALENDAR

Colorado MahlerFest:
Chamber Music Concert
MAY 15

No composer had a more decisive influence on the musical development of Benjamin Britten than Gustav Mahler. Britten's Phantasy for Oboe and Strings is a teenage work of breathtaking precocity, heard here in a performance led by oboe virtuoso Victoria Brawn.

Edward Elgar and Gustav Mahler were both kindred spirits and leading composers who became hugely influential public figures, and yet somehow remained eternal outsiders. Elgar's Violin Sonata, one of his last works, comes from the World War I years. It's music of great beauty and dark passion.

Throughout MahlerFest XXXII, we explore the art of orchestration and arrangement, examining Mahler's arrangements of Beethoven, and arrangements of Mahler's music by other composers. This concert concludes with a performance of Liszt's staggeringly virtuosic piano transcription of Beethoven's Fourth Symphony, a work which had a profound influence on Mahler's First Symphony, by David Korevaar.

The Upstart Crow Theatre Company:
Pygmalion
MAY 16 - 26

Henry Higgins, professor of phonetics, meets Eliza Doolittle, a common flower seller, on a rainy night in early 1900s London. Fascinated by her cockney accent, Higgins bets his colleague that he can transform her into a poised, well-spoken Duchess in a matter of months and present her to high-society without anyone realizing the difference. This charming tale is about a young woman's struggle to create her own destiny in a world designed to keep her from succeeding. Pygmalion inspired the award-winning musical and movie, My Fair Lady.

Boulder Ballet:
Cinderella
MAY 17 - 19

Boulder Ballet presents the magical ballet Cinderella, based on the classic story of the mistreated stepdaughter who is forbidden to attend the Royal Ball. When her world is transformed by her fairy godmother, Cinderella eventually becomes the princess she was meant to be. A treat for the senses, this production features stunning choreography, scenery, and costumes, and is set to the magnificent score by Sergei Prokofiev.

Dairy Comedy in the Boe
MAY 18, 8:30 PM

Zoe Rogers takes over as the new host for Dairy Comedy in the Boe. The writer/producer and stand-up performer recently moved to Colorado from L.A., and she brings a lot of her life experience as a mother of two into her comedy. "Being a mom is awesome and exhausting," she says. "It's like dealing with the cutest and craziest hecklers you've ever met. There's no sleep or predictability, but there is the universal experience of being a parent. Whether you are a parent, stepparent, or have just stood in line behind children, you know that they offer a unique, honest, and loud perspective on life."

Joining Rogers in her Dairy debut will be Katie Bowman and Janae Burris, who have made us laugh at the Dairy on several occasions. This will be a memorable night!

Peak to Peak Players:
Romeo and Juliet
MAY 25 - JUNE 2

Imagine falling in love with your mortal enemy. Now imagine you are a 13-year-old girl trapped in a society dominated by strong men. Would you risk everything to be with your new love?

This production features the finest young actors from Denver's metro area, including 17-year-old Grace Pouliot as Juliet, and 23-year-old Chris Van Winkle as the lovesick Romeo. The cast also includes Tara Rose Kelso as Mercutio, and Kate Parkin as Lady Capulet.

The play also includes a cameo appearance by dancers from Boulder Ballet, performing the Colorado premiere of Christopher Wheeldon's "This Bitter Earth." Wheeldon, the world's foremost choreographer, is most recently known for his Tony-award winning "American in Paris" on Broadway.
